Description

DUTCH STYLE FLOWER STILL LIFE OIL PAINTING An excellent example of a very professional flower still life oil painting on canvas, truly executed to a huge and realistic scale, being presented in a quality wooden crafted swept gold leafed frame. The artist Thomas Webster has achieved great detail and accuracy in the individual flowers, and this is displayed to the eye in the visible brush direction of the different colours and varnished finish. FLOWERS: A fine spray of various flowers such as roses, camellia, iris, parrot tulips, lilac, narcissus displayed resting on a stone plinth. ARTIST The artist has signed his name in the lower left bottom corner "THOMAS WEBSTER". The artist's works are sought after and have been sold in the past through Christies & Sotheby's. There are also various companies reproducing his original paintings as posters and prints. An outstanding piece of art and realism, rarely seen on such a very large scale, and capturing perfectly the ambience and scents of passionate droplets of dew, carefully painted on some of the petals. This fine still life study has taken many hours to produce to this fine and stunning quality. CONDITION The condition is great...
