Description

A really wonderful size, smaller than others ... a real gem. Made from solid English Oak the cabinet exterior is fitted with solid cast brass handles, with a complimentary brass escutcheon housing the working tasseled key. This one was gifted to a Miss E C Marks of Fulham, London in 1904. The lid opens to reveal the wonderful red leather lining lucky enough to have a gold embossed English design registration number 173368 for the year 1891. The interior of the lid retains the Ivory paper knife, pen and pencil. The fall front opens to reveal the fitted interior with the original red leather desk blotter being stored in the rear compartment. The box is divided into multiple compartments with Oak dividers, a brass topped glass inkwell and two drawers below. The metal fittings to the front would have housed paper calendar cards, this could now be used to store paper note pads or something similar.
