Description

A fantastic example of a sizable oil on canvas by L.Guarnieri and depicting a study showing a hand hammered copper vase with a selection of red ripe apples on a surface. The artist was born in Sicily in 1925 and became a world re-nowned painter and was acclaimed in both continents as one of the few living artists worthy to be considered a descendant of the Italian Renaissance. Wherever he has shown his paintings, critics and public alike have acknowledged him a rare living master and truly a Twentieth Centurt Phenomenon. Arnot & Co on New York have been an established art gallery since 1878, and in past years have sold and commissioned many of his works. I believe the artist is no longer alive and so collectors often snap up examples whenever they become available, which these days is a rarity. TITLED : "The Richness of Old Copper" STUNNING RICH COLOUR /AMAZING REFLECTIONS CONDITION The condition is perfect and with a good light on the subject, the fine reflection and shadows cast from the jug and apples are truly exceptionally well demonstrated. The artists fine works were selling for around £160 back in the 1960's from galleries on the south coast, and so these p...
