Description

This has got to be the most sought-after colour of this type of decanter, a deep purple or Amethyst colour. The bottle, hand blown in lead crystal has a ground pontil to the underside and is set with an English sterling silver collar for Birmingham 1839, a typically Regency style but very early Victorian in era with the highly sought-after Queen Victoria's head mark. The makers mark is also present for the silversmith, Spooner Painter & Co. The cork top is unmarked but tests as sterling. The bottle is complete with a coaster, with complimenting Grape Vine designs around the rim; the coaster is plated rather than sterling which is common when these are found intact with their coaster. The base has a Fruitwood base and the body of the holder beautifully pierced or reticulated. Excellent condition, the stand measures 4 1/4" in diameter x 3 3/4" tall. When together, the two pieces stand 13 1/2" tall. Item ID: 34439 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From London, England
