Description

VERY RARE early 18th century Queen Anne / George I walnut cabriole leg nursing chair. This is the first cabriole leg nursing chair I have ever seen. All in walnut with nice shape back splat and top rail. Front cabriole legs with carved scroll decoration. Original turned stretchers beneath. A few of the ears are missing from the sides of the legs and have been for at least 150 years which I wouldn't worry about otherwise this is a very nice early chair. Wonderful rich colour and patination. SIZES; 21" across the front. 36" high overall. 14" seat height.
