Description

Victorian Pitch Pine Dresser - Classic Three Drawer Design - c1900 This original late Victorian pitch pine display dresser is a pleasing design offering great practicality with a desirable triple cabinets below a trio of utility drawers. Offering warmth of tone to the pine the piece gives fine opportunity as a kitchen display or dining room cabinet. Three drawers and a good sized lower cabinets ensure practicality. The dresser benefits from a trio of shelves to the upper section. The doors provide interest with temple shaping front panel, hang on exposed butterfly hinges, and open with a turn catch. An attractive crown moulding sits atop with serpentine frieze under. The construction of the piece is robust and solid and it is presented in very good antique condition. The dresser top detaches so it will fit into homes with small doors. Delivered cleaned, waxed and ready for the home.
