Description

A very original, fine quality quarter sawn oak 30 hour day longcase clock, by Thomas Hallam of Nottingham, circa 1820. The well proportioned case, with swan-neck pediment hood, surmounted by a brass finial. Beautifully ebony and boxwood inlaid columns to the hood. Typical Nottinghamshire style case crossbanded throughout with mahogany. Beautiful "Walker & Hughes of Birmingham" arched japanned dial, with revolving moonphase to the arch and finely painted corners. The well made 30 hour movement striking the hours on a single bell. Finely fretted original brass hands. Cast iron weight and brass faced pendulum bob. A very good small proportioned clock, with beautiful detail, complimented by a well executed painted dial with interesting revolving moonphase. Contact us about this item...
