Description

Mid Victorian stained glass panel that may have originally been a window or possibly part of a door. It has two eyes on either side so that it can hang either on a wall (as here) or in front of a window. With a yellow star burst pattern surrounded by a frieze of blue and red squares interspersed with yellow castellated panels. It has just come back from a stained glass specialist who has restored and cleaned the piece. Size Width - 19.5" (50cms) Height - 25" (64cms)
