SoldItem Reference: SA236485*Date of manufacture: 18th Century

Description

A delightful small antique 18th Century hanging corner cupboard in a dark oak with later carving. A highly decorative piece of antique furniture, this cupboard has a carved door depicting a spray of flowers and an arched top. The carving to the door is most likely a Victorian addition (it was a popular past time to carve earlier pieces.) While the carving to the sides is most likely original chip carving. It has decorative hinges (Victorian replacements) and inside there are 2 shelves. Key provided, lock in working order (not the original lock). Construction/Wood: Oak Condition Report: In solid condition. Some small scuffs and marks commensurate with age. Evidence of some old worm holes to the back (but it is a very old piece of furniture). Replacement hinges, escutcheon and lock. Some of the carving is later than the cupboard. Dimensions: Across Front: 20" Across Side: 15" Height: 36.5" Delivery: FREE to Mainland England, Scotland and Wales 7-10 Days via Courier
