Description

We are pleased to offer for sale this large portrait by the Society Portrait Painter Vasco Lazzolo, finished generously in oils applied with a textured finish to enhance brush strokes and depth. THE SITTER : The painting depicts a half length portrait of a lady, wearing a turquoise shirt waister dress, with pearl earrings in her ears. Her makeup and hairstyle are very much of the period. Unfortunately, we are unaware of the name of the subject, but she was obviously a member of the higher echelons of society ABOUT THE ARTIST.(Born 1915) Vasco Lazzolo was born in 1915 and studied at the Liverpool School of Art and the Slade. Prior to WWII, he was a fashion magazine and book cover illustrator. There is an interesting clip on google of the artist on Pathe News in 1938, giving a television demonstration of his technique when drawing fashion models. He was in his early twenties. After the war, he became a well known Society Portrait Painter and numbered amongst his many celebrity subjects and friends, Donald Campbell, Somerset Maugham and the Duke of Edinburgh. He was also a sculptor and crafted a bronze head of the Duke of Edinburgh, which is visible on goo...
