Description

Now, there are clocks and then there are clocks. And clocks like this one don't come along very often. Made by top London maker, UPJOHN & BRIGHT of 5, King William St., The Strand, London, they are recorded as working from 1823 to 1863 (and beyond). The twin fusee, 8 day movement strikes on a bell on the hours and has just been fully overhauled by our BHI registered staff. Striking wall clocks are few and far between and hence much sought after. The mahogany case is superbly constructed from the finest quality timber. It has a chisel shaped base to the backbox with drop down, key lockable door, side inspection door, and sound fret to the top. It has a very attractive narrow surround to the dial. A heavy, cast brass bezel with bevelled glass. The off-white dial appears to be un-restored from new, with black, Roman numerals and blued steel hands. It is a pleasure to be able to offer such an original clock for sale.
