Price

SoldItem Reference: SA240912*Date of manufacture: 1900

Description

A good and rare pair of oak Arts & Crafts armchairs possibly by Liberty & Co of London. Both chairs having a stylised Arts & Crafts pierced top rail with a central heart shaped motif to the angled back supports, with open arms and upholstered arm rests above the cushioned seats. One is a rocking chair, raised on a shaped "rocking" platform base, the other one is raised on square tapering supports. The chairs have been recently re-upholstered in a peacock feather design similar to what may have been used originally. Constructed with quarter sawn oak throughout, possibly by Liberty's of London, circa 1900. Dimensions: Arm chair 39" high x 24" deep x 26" wide (seat 12" high) Rocker 37" high x 29" deep x 25" wide (seat 12" high). Condition: This pair of chairs are in excellent condition, cleaned and waxed. An excellent colour and patination. FREE UK MAINLAND DELIVERY.
