Description

A stunning mahogany Late Victorian Period serpentine antique display cabinet by Maple & Co. The upper section of serpentine outline with a broken swan neck pediment and Greek key moulded detail, having a satinwood banded frieze, above a central bowed front glazed door opening to reveal a silk lined and shelved interior. Flanked by further concave glazed panels. The cabinet is made entirely from solid fiddleback mahogany with satinwood cross banded detail. The lower section again of serpentine outline with a solid mahogany top cross banded in satinwood. The central bow front section with three mahogany lined drawers with classical brass swan neck handles and cross banded in satinwood, flanked by two concave panelled doors. The doors having stunning flame veneered oval panels, cross banded in satinwood and opening to reveal a shelved interior. The ends again in fiddleback mahogany and supported on six elegant square tapering legs with spade feet. The locks are all stamped VR indicating that this piece was made in the Late Victorian Period circa 1900. The choice of fiddleback mahogany throughout this piece showing the true quality you would expect from the makers Maple & Co....
