Antique Marble Top Gilt Wood Side Table

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA244701*Date of manufacture: 1910

Description

Antique gilt wood marble top console side table with some lovely carved decoration. It's in good original condition, with a small few bits of the original gilding missing. You can see the white & red layers underneath, which shows that this item was originally professionally gilded. This also adds to the overall character. I'm not sure of the exact age, but it does look like it's from the 1890-1910 period, although it may be older. This table came out of a private London residence & I haven't done anything to it. This is a very decorative piece of furniture, with a lot of intricate carvings, which are all in wood & no gesso. On closer inspection if one looks underneath, there is some evidence that there was some extra carving underneath the top front edge. I can't be sure, but there looks like something may have been attached at some point. Anyway this is how I got it & I think it looks fine as is. The applied decorative piece above the urn has come off & has been off before, but we will put it back on before sending out. Width - 29", 74 cm Depth - 15", 38 cm Height - 32", 82 cm
