Description

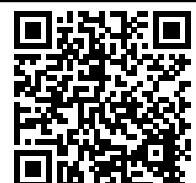

One of the finest whisky flasks I have had for some time, this is made from English sterling silver, huge and hefty weighing 430.2 Grams / 13.83 Troy Ounces. What makes this a highly prized piece is the well renowned top-notch silversmith, Sampson Mordan & Co. of London. The flask and removable cup both have full hallmarks for London 1900, so a very late Victorian example. The hinged lid is a bayonet fitting, requiring a twist and lift movement to open. A fine specimen in excellent condition, measuring 7" tall x 4 1/4" wide. Item ID: 35237 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From London, England
