Description

A quality antique mahogany partners desk with canted corners. This quality antique mahogany partners desk has a rectangular top with a narrow crossbanded edge and thumb mould retaining a original gilt tooled leather insert. The top has one central long drawer and two shorter drawers either side which is mirrored to the back making it a partners desk with all drawers having hand cut dovetails. Each cockbeaded drawers has solid brass swan neck handles and brass escutcheon with mahogany lined sides and brass locks. The top with canted corners sits upon two canted cornered mahogany pedestals each retaining three graduated drawers to the front and cupboard doors to the back raised on bracket feet. This antique desk dates from the early 1900's and is very well made with a good faded mahogany colour and is nice to have it's original leather in decent condition having been repaired over the years giving the desk a whole lot of character. This desk has been restored using traditional methods and is ready to grace any office / study.
