Description

Antique solid mahogany early Victorian campaign desk. This desk is wonderful quality with a tooled leather writing surface & has all the original military brass handles. The drawers on either side are graduated, with a long middle drawer on the top & all the drawers have solid mahogany drawer bottoms. The back of this desk is polished too & it sits on short turned feet. It also has very generous knee-hole space & comes apart into three sections. I'm unsure of the exact date, but in my opinion it dates from around the 1840 period, but could be older. It's in good original condition & has lots of character.
