Description

GOOD early to mid 19th century Scottish oak hall or writing table. Nice shape trestle ends with scroll feet and castors. Very nice carved mouldings around the top and base edge. The trestle ends united by a turned stretcher. Has the nice feature of two original drawers to the front which are ash and pine lined. Good original condition and colour with no repairs. Lovely size as it is not too wide which would make it a great piece for a hallway. SIZE; 48" wide by 19" from front to back by 29" high
