Description

Very hard to find in Satinwood and much more highly sought-after than the more commonly found examples in Mahogany. This eighteenth century gem stands on three bracket feet and has been converted into a stationery box making it a very usable piece in the 21st century, over two centuries after it was made to hold cutlery. The beautifully shaped frame is cross-banded in Tulipwood trimmed in fine Boxwood and Ebony stringing. The centre of the lid is inlaid with the original shell, there is also one on the inside of the lid. The box comes complete with a working key and remains in superb condition. Some fine old grain cracks, made stable having been professionally re-polished. The box measures 9 1/2" wide at the back x 11 1/2" deep; standing 15 1/2" tall at rear and 11" high at front. The interior width measures 7 7/8" at widest (rear). Item ID: 35552 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly from London, England
