Price

SoldItem Reference: SA271306*Date of manufacture: 1880

Description

Superb and very unusual Victorian Scottish BLACK WATCH soldier ceremonial table lighter. Made from spelter with all the original paint. The head is hinged and once open reveals a pull out striker which has what looks like a flint at the end which is stuck against a groove in the base at the right hand side. Haven't tried it to see if it works. These were used at ceremonial Black watch dinners as a bit of fun. The Black Watch having been originally based in Perth before it was amalgamated with other Scottish regiments. SIZE; 10" high
