Description

Beautiful 18th.c. three drawer Shropshire dresser base c.1770. A rare piece, being elm throughout, with delicious colour and patternation particularly to the top, which is made from a single slab with carved molded edge. With an attractively shaped apron below the drawers and raised on unusual architectural turned front legs. Famously suseptable to pest attack, as ever with period elm there is of evidence of historic wood worm here which has been carefully checked and treated. Excellent condition, restored, waxed and polished in our workshops with later back legs and repairs to the top. Unusually all three drawers retain the original brass handles.
