A BRASS CHANDELIER WITH CHERUBS

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA287245*Date of manufacture: 1920

Description

This very decorative chandelier probably dates from around 1920-1940 and has eight scroll arms, with twelve lights. Each alternative arm has two lights, one at either end of the scroll, and the arms in between hold one light at the end but a cherub sits at the other end of the scroll. See photograph 4. We have lightened the photographs so that the details can be seen easily, in reality it is a soft, slightly darker brass. The chandelier measures 64cm in length without any chain being added at the top, and 86cm across at the widest part. It has been rewired for the UK market and fitted with replacement candle tubes. It can be viewed in the Berkshire area, or we can arrange a viewing in Surrey. Delivery quotes can be obtained for the UK mainland by our couriers who we find very reasonable.
