Description

HENRI JACOT**: a fine quality late 19th century French CARRIAGE CLOCK, by this famous maker, in perfect working order. Housed within its elegant and substantial "gorge" case, with 'ribbed' handle and large viewing glass to the top, the eight-day movement strikes hours and half-hours on a gong, repeating hours at will. It retains its original lever platform escapement, and is fully signed within the movement. Fine enamel dial; perfect working order and guaranteed for at least two years. ** Henri JACOT was a maker of "superb carriage clocks"; full details of him and his work can be found in "Carriage Clocks" by Charles Allix.
