Description

This impressive spelter figure of a woman who appears to be dancing, has the most beautifully detailed clothing, and delicate arms and facial features. The light stands at 104cm in length from the lightbulb holder to the base of the lamp, and at the widest point it measures approximately 30cm. We have lightened some of the photos more than we would wish to show the details clearly, but in reality it is a dark rich colour. The octagonal base is the original and has a decorative pattern on all sides. The base on it's own measures 27cm in height and approximately 28cm across. It is one of the most striking spelter figures we have had in stock over our 23 years of trading. We recently had it rewired and a new felt base put underneath so that it can stand on any surface. It would look fabulous either standing on the floor or on a plinth. Because of the size and weight of the light, we would prefer personal collection or a designated courier for delivery, although we could deliver ourselves within easy reach of the M25. The lamp can be viewed in the Surrey area, and more photos can be sent if required.
