Description

A charming antique Victorian watercolour on paper in a beautifully boxed ornamental gilt frame signed lower left W H Moore. Presented in a gilt mount, within a superb ornate gilt frame, which is mounted on a dark brown velvet surround and boxed in a mahogany frame and original glass. The watercolour is of an Abbey and monk and is labelled Rotherwood Abbey to the lower right. Rotherwood Abbey may be a fictional Abbey based upon an existing abbey, possibly a reference to Roche Abbey in Rotherham although it does also bear some resemblance to Bath Abbey. There is one W H Moore listed in reference books whose address was Paris and who exhibited two works in Manchester in 1886, which would tie in with the date of this painting dating from circa 1880s. In unusually good condition, a beautiful example of a piece which are now becoming quite scarce. Medium: Watercolour on paper Condition Report: Very good original condition. A few hairline cracks to the moulding, a few small flakes fallen off, Original glass, mahogany frame also all in very good condition. Dimensions: Painting Width: 9.5" Painting Height: 11.5" Frame Width: 17" Frame Height: 19"
