Description

A good late 18th century SILK SAMPLER which retains its original bright vibrant colours. Completed by Ann Church, aged 10 years in 1798, this depicts various 'exotic' animals; birds and plants arranged around a Stately Home to the centre, whilst various emblems, including two swans can be found towards the lower edge, all surround by an ornate sewn border. The frame appears to be original, and it is both signed and dated. 20ins x 15.5ins including the frame (51 x 39cms)
