Description

This antique Georgian style leather wing armchair is a top quality item & very comfortable. The leather is in excellent condition & is full of character. It's deep buttoned on the back, seat, wings & arms. There is hand tacking all over & it sits on mahogany legs that are joined by cross stretchers which give it extra stability. It also has an extended hump back & generously shaped wings. I would date this chair to around the 1920-30's period. It has been professionally polished & is in great condition.
