Description

A rare, early hooded wall alarm clock. A 7" brass dial with silvered chapter ring and central alarm disc. A well engraved dial centre and the original blued steel single hand. The original oak case with fine iron work fixings. A verge escapement, single weight driven mechanism which is made as an integral part of the case. A slide-off top with two iron strips to hold the alarm hammer in place. William Townley of Temple Cloud is recorded in 'The Chew Valley Clockmakers' book as working from 1700-1732. I purchased this clock direct from a private collection that was purchased from the previous owner in 1940's. A fine original clock.
