Description

A really unusually cut garnet in this smashing little Art Deco ring. Nine facets on the table (i.e., the top) of the stone cut in such a way to suggest a star. A gorgeous clash of styles in evidence here: the ornately pierced platinum shoulders each set with a small rose cut diamond; the extremely delicate 18k gold bands; the robust and geometric double gallery holding the gem. Exceptional design and workmanship. Cut - Fancy Square cut. Colour - Deep red. Carat - Approximately 1.00 carat. Condition - Some rubbing to the inside of the band, but otherwise in fine condition. Circa - 1920. Size - Currently K 1/2 (UK) or 5 3/8 (US). Complementary sizing is available, can go up or down. Measurements - The top square measures 6mm by 6mm and sits 4mm from the finger. Metal - The band is in 18k yellow gold. 18CT is still faintly legible inside the band. The shoulders are platinum.
