Description

Julius Ceaser Ibbetson 1759 - 1817 A View of Fountains Abbey with a Milkmaid milking a Cow in the foreground oil on canvas 18.31 x 26.46 in. (46.50 x 67.20 cm.) Provenance : Christies, 14th April 1950, Lot 1032, bt Manuadpour 3 Gns After a dispute and riot in 1132 at the Benedictine house, St Mary's Abbey, in York, 13 monks were expelled and, after unsuccessfully attempting to return to the early 6th-century Rule of St Benedict, were taken into the protection of Thurstan, Archbishop of York. He provided them with land in the valley of the River Skell, a tributary of the Ure. The enclosed valley had all the natural features needed for the creation of a monastery, providing shelter from the weather, stone and timber for building, and a supply of running water. After enduring a harsh winter in 1133, the monks applied to join the Cistercian order and in 1135 became the second house of that order in northern England, after Rievaulx. The monks subjected themselves to Clairvaux Abbey, in Burgundy which was under the rule of St Bernard. Under the guidance of Geoffrey of Aina, a monk sent from Clairvaux, the group learned how to celebrate the seven Canonical Hours and were...
