Description

An exquisite Georgian glazed cabinet in mahogany. The two doors – each retaining four beautiful old undulating 19th century glass panels – open to reveal a storage interior with two solid fruitwood shelves. There is evidence of a more compartmentalised former interior but these two shelves are all that is usually required. There is a working lock and key. This beautiful little Georgian cabinet has an original finish with a rich colour and patination. It is English, c.1800/ 1820.
