Description

This is a late Victorian - early 20thC five arm brass chandelier. It weighs 4.2kgs and is a very good quality, small light that could benefit from some good chain to hang it from a ceiling hook. The five lights are held into position by lovely scross arms, and the top and base of the chandelier have big brass decorative loops. It measures 42cm in length (without chain) and is approximately 49cm across at the widest point, and it has been rewired for the UK market.
