Description

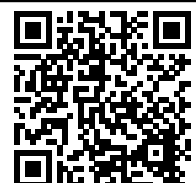

A wonderful and rare piece of Victorian novelty serving ware by the top-notch silversmith, John Grinsell, dating to around 1890. Panels of solid English Oak were used to form this cylindrical body and mounted with silver plated fittings to create a drum. The inside has a removable liner in silver plate and the interior gilded. We managed to find a jam spoon to finish the offering. The top of the lid is crowned by a wonderful finial in the form of a pair of crossed drumsticks leaning against a music score engraved. The folding handle incorporates a belt and buckle detailing, a very Victorian motif. The bottom rim is where the mark for John Grinsell can be found. Excellent condition, the diameter measures 4 1/8" x 5 3/4" tall or 6 1/2" tall to top of handle whilst upright. Item ID: 35801
