Description

Simple attractive Irish all iron bedstead professionally restored in hand finish matt black that compliments the aged patina of the frame. Please see the close up images which also show the detail in the decorative castings. Corner joints; which are called chills, have been checked for good fit and rails have been strengthened and adapted to support wood slats. We have been restoring antique bedsteads in our own workshops for over 25 years with skill that is sympathetic to the bed style; thus making them look the best available whilst ensuring the bed to be in good order for another hundred years and more. The price includes wood slats (sorry not mattress) However we can supply hand made mattresses in all comfort choices; please enquire for details as well as mini box bases for superior mattress support.
