Description

A particularly fine and attractive English BRACKET CLOCK by John Taylor of London. The superb mahogany case features an ormolu-mounted pagoda-type pediment; five original cast brass finials; cast caryatids to the canted front corners and fine cast and gilded side panels below the carrying handles. The eight-day movement retains its original verge escapement, striking hours and half-hours on a bell, with hourly repeat at will. The engraved and silvered dial is signed to the centre, with good spandrels and "Strike/Silent" subsidiary dial in the arch. The blued steel hands are original and there is a third gilded centre hand which automatically indicates the calendar date. 19ins (48.5cms) high excluding the upper finial.
