Description

This antique walnut breakfront bookcase is fabulous quality & dates to around the 1920's period. The top is crossbanded & the legs are nicely carved with ball & claw feet. There are two astral-glazed doors on either side with adjustable shelves inside, but the shelves aren't in place in the images. Right now, we can't open any of the doors, because the keys went missing, but we will get it opened & provide keys before sending it out. Also, I can't see what is behind the middle polished door. I have had similar models in the past & they usually have adjustable shelves too, but I don't know if it's painted or polished inside that section I will update this description when we get the doors open. The paintwork showing behind the doors looks original to this piece & is a lovely colour which compliments this bookcase. Width - 50.5", 128 cm Depth - 15", 38 cm Height - 45.7", 116 cm
