Description

This is a superb antique walnut drop dial wall clock with beautiful inlays decorating the case with a twin scroll design bottom, original 8 day twin train striking movement and original high quality inlaid walnut case Circa - 1890. The clock has a superb design to it with the beautiful walnut case with pillars either side and perfect proportions. The case is in excellent condition and looks perfect on display, the fine tunbridgeware inlays are fantastic and are very fine. The case has its original hinged front door which hinges open to reveal access to the dial and pendulum. The clock is of perfect proportions measuring 34 inches high x 15 inches wide x 5.5 inches deep. The clock benefits from an Original 8 day two train bell striking pendulum movement. Movement is in full working order keeping time and striking on a bell as and when it should counting the hours on the hour and comes with its original pendulum.
