Description

Associated pair of burr walnut bedside cabinets c.1930. Slight differences in design but so similar in style and materials they would work well together either side of a bed. Both have crossbanded tops with carved edges over a slide-out table surface, a single drawer and cupboard below (one opening left, one to right). The carved molding are repeated at the base and both are raised on similar shaped and carved feet. Well matched for colour, both are in excellent condition.
