Description

A extremely fine quality Regency pollard oak teapoy having a beautiful colour. This is one prettiest teapoys I have seen, made of pollard oak and dating to 1820. The quality of this piece is outstanding having a shaped pollard / burr oak hinged top which opens to reveal round compartment with a original round solid pollard oak cover. The top having a braham lock (the finest most unpickable lock of its time) showing its quality with finely reeded carving to each corner supported on a shaped vase column resting on a quadraform base raised on beautifully solid pollard oak lions paw feet with original brass castors. In lovely original condition with a fantastic colour and patina the quality pollard oak timber used is the finest of its type.
