Description

A charming and elegant 'animalier' BRONZE SCULPTURE of a suckling ewe, by Pierre Jules Mêne. Beautifully modelled and finely cast, the ewe, with bell around her neck, is to be found feeding her enthusiastic lamb ~ you can almost see the lambs tail wagging! Impressed signature within the base. 9ins wide; 6ins high. (23cms x 15cms).  Pierre Jule MÊNE (1810-1879) is considered to be the pioneer of animal sculpture in the 19th century. He enjoyed a longer period of success and celebrity than any of his contemporaries.
