Description

A most superb Georgian oak corner cupboard. Mid 18th century c1740-1760. This very charming two section cupboard, having two panelled doors, is full of wonderful character, with a good rich warm colour. The doors, with original H hinges (one replaced to the lower door) open to reveal shelved interiors, of solid oak, again with lots of character to the wood, beautifully aged and tactile. Standing on lovely, ogee shaped feet. Having locks and keys to both doors. A drop-down table has been historically added to the inside of the top section door. Dismantles to two sections. The overall condition is excellent antique condition, with general expected signs of age and use. Oozes character. Very solid sturdy and strong.
