Description

A wonderful example of a hefty oversized water jug or pitcher, made from solid English Oak, with a fabulous glossy patina held together with silverplated fittings, with a quality screwed construction. The grand size required a second handle to to the front to steady this hefty jug while pouring. The front has the original presentation shield which is lovely as it is dated 1882 for the First Prize in Hammer Throwing! The hinged lid opens to reveal an excellent condition ceramic liner, without damage. The silver plate isn't marked but these are usually made by the well renowned John Grinsell of Birmingham. A impressive size with the base diameter measuring 7 3/4" and spans 10 1/2" handle to front handle and towering 9 1/2" to top of finial. A fine example in excellent condition.
