Description

Unusual design mid 19th century French rosewood and tulip-wood inlaid box with sliding lid. Nicely moulded top with well turned quarter rosewood columns. Ivory knobs to the sides and lid. Astragal moulding to the base. The whole piece is either solid rosewood or veneered on mahogany. I think originally it had a looped swinging handle attached where the ivory knobs are on the sides but this is long gone. There is one small slot at the top on one side otherwise this is in very good condition. A nice looking box with plenty storage space inside. SIZE; 11" by 5" by 7" high
