Description

GILLOWS of LANCASTER: A charming early 19th century FLOWER TABLE or jardiniere, almost certainly by this famous firm of cabinetmakers. Constructed throughout of Gonzales Alves (a timber greatly favoured by Gillows) this lovely table, with its turned baluster gallery all around, has a central circular cover which when removed (via a clever push-rod access below) reveals the dished space in which to plant small bulbs or flowers. It is supported on a well turned and figured solid shaped central column leading to a triform base and compressed bun feet. When not in use as a flower table, it becomes a charming and useful wine table. 31ins (79cms) high.
