SoldItem Reference: SA355556*Date of manufacture: 1870

Description

A very good French ormolu MANTLE CLOCK of large size and imposing proportions. Surmounted by an urn with swags and flame finial, it features Lion's mask handles to the sides, scrolls and swags below, and raised on stylised bracket feet. The 8-day movement strikes hours and half-hours on a bell and is in perfect working order. Of particular note is the large enamel dial (about 6ins diameter, and much larger than usual) which has blue Arabic and Roman numerals, together with the pretty pierced and gilded hands. Perfect condition throughout. Signed on dial and movement: G. Philippe of Palais Royal, PARIS. An impressive clock.
