Description

A handsome and unusual late Victorian salad bowl in the form of a bucket or pail, a welcome departure from the more normal shaped bowl of this type. Made from solid Oak the bowl is mounted with silver plated fittings including two integrated handles. There is a presentation shield to the front, untouched. One of the fittings is stamped EPNS for Electro-Plated Nickel Silver. The bowl comes complete with its original creamware liner and Oak handled servers, where the makers mark D&A can be found for the silversmith well renowned for this Oak and silver combination, Daniel and Arter. A lovely example in excellent condition with slight wear commensurate with age. The base diameter measures 7 3/4", the handles span 9 1/2"; standing 6" to top of handle.
