Description

A very good quality walnut bureau on stand raised on cabriole legs. This super quality late 19th C walnut bureau on stand has been constructed with fantastic proportions making it a very attractive piece. The crossbanded top sits above a walnut bookmatch veneered fall with brass engraved plate escutcheon which opens to reveal a fitted interior with four shaped and crossbanded drawers and a central walnut veneered door. The fall retaining which looks to be its original leather writing surface sits over a oak lined shaped drawer with brass swan neck handles flanked by two lopers with brass drop handles. This antique bureau comes in two sections with the top section sitting on a endgrain moulded base with shaped apron raised on slender square cut cabriole legs. Of fantastic colour and proportions this bureau is offered in excellent condition having been restored using a traditional waxing method. A very pretty bureau which can be used throughout the home.
