Description

Very nice pair of early 18th century brass candlesticks with side ejector levers. Very stylish shape with stepped domed base and simple knobs to the stem either side of the ejector lever and to the top. They measure 7 1/2" high and 4 1/2" wide. Condition is very good for age. There are some shallow dents about both bases so they are not perfectly round anymore. The ejectors both work (one is quite stiff) but stop 1/4" short of the bottom. A small hole in the side of the sconce on one and a few tiny dinks about and light surface wear.
