Description

Basically 17th century oak side table with bobbin turned legs and single drawer. The base with bobbin turned legs united by moulded stretchers near the base. The single drawer with moulding at the bottom and brass swan neck handles with fretted escutcheon plate. The drawer is pine lined. The top has a thumb moulding and although old I'm not convinced is original to the table. One interesting feature is the inside of the drawer front and the inside of the back part both have really early carving on them, so even in the 17th century they were recycling. The table is a lovely colour with rich patination from years of waxing. SIZES; 33" by 24" by 29 1/2" high
