Description

18th century George III Cuban mahogany "converted" commode. The most beautiful colour and patination throughout. Square legs with corner mould and nice shaped top gallery. Cupboard with a pair of doors with converted drawer beneath which has been well done in the 19th century. There is an old chip to the right hand side of the top which has been there for a long time but could be repaired if required. Basically this is a very nice example and a very useful piece of furniture. SIZES; 24" wide by 18" by 31" high overall. 28 1/2" high to the top.
